

Assessment System Transition Points for Communication Disorders

Transition Point 1: Admission to a program of study, candidates undergo a screening process that includes:

- Completed Graduate School application
- A cumulative undergraduate minimum GPA of 3.0 is required
- Assessment of appropriate dispositions
- Previous coursework in basic sciences and professional coursework
- Letters of recommendation
- GRE of at least 1200
- Writing sample in letter of intent

Transition Point 2: To move to advanced level clinical experience, candidates must:

- Completed application to clinical experience
- Successfully complete required preliminary coursework
- Successfully complete required course-based assessments
- Assessment of the dispositions

Transition Point 3: Candidates must successfully complete their clinical experiences to move to the stage of program completion.

- Assessment by University supervisor and off-campus supervisor
- Earn at least a satisfactory evaluation on the clinical experience
- Earn at least a satisfactory score on the dispositions assessment
- Successfully complete required core assessments
- Work samples or artifacts
-

Transition Point 4: All advanced candidates must demonstrate content, professional and pedagogical knowledge and skills included in the curriculum for their field of study. Program completion assessments vary from program to program, but each require:

- Completion of all coursework with a GPA of at least 3.0
- Successfully complete Capstone project
- Successfully complete Praxis licensure exam (comprehensive)
- Earn at least a satisfactory score on the dispositions assessment
- Complete all degree/program requirements
- Receive approval of the graduate coordinator for the department